

Please Bury Me in the Learning Commons

By Lucy

Please bury me in the learning commons,
Where I feel calm in the reading nooks,
With non fiction, novels, and comics,
Where I'm living in the books.

Where ipads, macbooks, green screens and Legos,
Get to know paper, projectors, whiteboards, and mythos.
With drawing tools, writing tools, posters, and pens,
I can learn about, animals, dancing, politics, and wrens.

I have an ipad upon my lap,
While sitting on a window seat,
Reading an ebook on an app,
And the ending is bittersweet.

Please bury me in the learning commons,
I'm at rest on the information highway,
Reading books by the millions and billions,
Filling my mind, forming a literary bouquet.